(b) if so, the details thereof; and

(c) if not, the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR (SHRI SAHIB SINGH VERMA): (a) to (c) Review/updation of labour laws is a continuous process in order to bring them in tune with the prevailing situation and emerging needs of the economy.Taking into consideration the requirement of productivity, competitiveness and employment generation and to update the provisions of labour laws, a need has been felt to make amendments in certain labour legislations and steps initiated accordingly. Thus, amendments in certain labour legislations viz. the Trade Unions Act, 1926, the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 and the Cine Workers' Workers Fund Act, 1981 were recently carried out. The Tea District Emigrant Labour (Repeal) Act, 1970 and the Industrial Disputes (Banking Companies) Act, 1955, which had become outdated, have been repealed.

Meanwhile, the Second National Labour Commission has submitted its report to the Government. The Commission has made a wide ranging recommendations on various facets of labour viz. review of laws, social security, women & child labour, skill development, labour administration, unorganised sector etc. The Ministry has held consultations and interactions with the workers' representatives, employers' organizations, experts professionals etc. The recommendations of the Commission were also discussed in the 38th Session of Indian Labour Conference held on 28-29 September, 2002 and in a National Seminar on Unorganised Sector Workers held on 7-8 November, 2002, also in a Tripartite Committee meeting held on 18-19 February, 2003 and in the Consultative Committee Meetings of the Ministry of Labour held on 07-02-2003 and 30.04.2003. Lately, the recommendations have again been discussed in the 39th Session of Indian Labour Conference held on 16-18 October, 2003. Such steps are being taken to bring about a workable consensus for implementation of the recommendations of the Commission as well as to concretise the views of the Government. However, given the procedure involved, it is not possible to specify the time limit.
